

AMERICAN FEDERATION PUERI CANTORES

ANNOUNCES THE

ORGAN SCHOLAR PROGRAM

The American Federation Pueri Cantores (AFPC) is proud to announce its national ORGAN SCHOLAR PROGRAM, a performance opportunity for students ages 15-18. Young organists have the opportunity to collaborate with respected professionals and perform a prelude on world class instruments before the Festival Mass.

AFPC also introduces its NATIONAL ORGAN SCHOLAR CONCERT where organists selected to play in last year's regional festivals are invited to come to New York and share in an evening concert at Church of the Holy Trinity, New York City, on Saturday, November 19, 2011.

Pueri Cantores is the international student choral organization of the Catholic Church that provides opportunities to sing great liturgical music to parish and school choirs, singers ages 9-18. AFPC organizes regional Festival and Mass celebrations, which this year are scheduled to be held in Oakland, CA; Cincinnati, OH; Chicago, IL; San Juan Capistrano, CA; Detroit, MI; Pittsburgh, PA; St. Louis, MO; Cambridge, MA; Notre Dame, IN; Corpus Christi, TX; Washington, DC; and Orlando, FL. A small stipend is provided.
