Notes: This brief motet may be sung with either mixed or equal voices. For treble choirs, if singing in two parts, it would be prudent to have the second part sing in unison with the first part on the final note. If singing in four part treble voices, conductors should divide the voices as follows: Soprano II, Alto I, Soprano I, Alto II, with the tenor and bass voices being read up the octave and the descending octave in the final measure being treated as optional.
